Celebrating Staffing for Canada Week

24 HOURS NEWS SERVICE —
As Canada continues a steady climb from the recession, temporary workers across the country will be celebrating Staffing for Canada Week from June 6 to 12, 2010.

Member companies of the Association of Canadian Search, Employment & Staffing Services (ACSESS), their professional staff and field workers will be actively involved in celebrations as the number of temporary positions has increased dramatically in the first quarter of 2010.

The celebration is supported by local dignitaries and Canada's political leaders. ACSESS is proud of the endorsements received each year from the Prime Minister of Canada and provincial premiers.

For 2010, Prime Minister Harper has extended the following message to the staffing profession: "Staffing agencies provide a valuable service by connecting businesses with job seekers. Staffing for Canada Week presents an ideal opportunity to increase public awareness of employment and staffing agencies, while offering the many Canadians who have already benefited from these services a chance to express their appreciation."

More than 400,000 Canadians are employed through the staffing profession.
